

A political cartoon of a monarch, likely King Louis-Philippe I, sitting on a throne. He is wearing a golden crown and a purple robe with a white ermine-trimmed cape. He holds a golden scepter in his right hand and a scroll labeled 'VETO' in his left hand. The background features green curtains and a wooden wall.

Share & Compare

Reading Notes: A Democratic Revolution, 1800-1848

Why did Jacksonians consider the political deal between Adams and Clay to be "corrupt"?

i.e. the corrupt bargain of 1825

Jackson lost the presidential election of 1824 and won in 1828: what changes explain these different outcomes?

How did South Carolina justify nullification on constitutional grounds?

How did the views of Jackson and John Marshall differ regarding the status and rights of American Indians?

How did the Taney Court and the Jacksonian state constitutions alter the constitutional system?

How did the ideology of the Whigs differ from that of the Jacksonian Democrats?